

Saskia Sassen is Robert S. Lynd Professor of Sociology at Columbia University. On April 21, 2009, she presented "Neither Global nor National: Novel Assemblages of Territory, Authority and Rights."

Saskia Sassen spoke about her research on globalization and territory rights to an audience of over 70 people. This event was co-sponsored by the Center for Latin American Studies and the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Saskia Sassen is author of Territory, Authority, Rights: From Medieval to Global Assemblages (Princeton University Press, 2008), winner of the Robert Jervis and Paul Schroeder Award in International History and Politics from the American Political Science Association, and Honorable Mention, Association of American Publishers Award for Best Professional/Scholarly Book in Sociology and Social Work.

Richard Hamilton (left), Professor Emeritus of Sociology at The Ohio State University, spoke with Saskia Sassen, Robert S. Lynd Professor of Sociology at Columbia University.

Saskia Sassen spoke with faculty affiliates of the Center for Latin American Studies. Sassen's presentation was part of the Latin America in the Global Scenario speaker series.